Diamond Prices Continue Upward

These conditions will always exist, for Diamond prices increase steadily year after year. The supply of Diamonds constantly grows less, while the demand for Senator Beveridge on the D. M. Parry them increases. As people become more prosperous their taste for articles of elegance and refinement grows and must be gratified. This makes an ever-growing demand for Diamonds, which are the best expression of culture and success. In fact, nothing conduces more to the appearance of success than the wearing of DIAMONDS. TRIUMPH OF SURGERY

EDWARD BISHOP RECOVERS FROM GUNSHOT WOUND IN ABDOMEN.

The First Patient So Wounded Ever Turned Out Alive from the City Hospital.

Edward Bishop, of West Indianapolis, who was shot by his stepson, Elza Bennett, through the bowels on the 30th of December, was discharged perfectly whole and sound from the City Hospital yesterday. The ball was a 32-callber revolver ball, fired at close rang, and entered the abdomen near the middle line, just below the stomach. Its course was downward toward the right side of the body. When the abdomen was opened at the City Hospital, just two hours after the shooting, three loops of the intestines were found shot through by the bullet. These holes were closed by the "lembert suture"-that is, the ragged edges of the wounds were turned in and the outer smooth portions of the intestine sewed to-The entire course of the bowel was examined for holes, but no others were found. The ball was not sought for, and no doubt is inclosed in the muscular tissues of the back part of the abdominal wall. The X-ray was used yesterday in search of the ball, but it was not found because of the great thickness of the tissues in part. and in part because of the lack of intensity of the rays at that time.

This recovery is regarded with much satisfaction by the hospital physicians and the consulting surgeons, as it is the first case recorded in the annals of the City Hospital, or elsewhere in the city, of recovery following an operation for gunshot wound of the bowels, although one case got well which was shot through the bowel but was not operated upon. The general rule among civil and army surgeons is to always operate after pistol shot wounds of the abdomen, but not where long-range small bullets from rifles have made the wound. The experience of army surgeons in Cuba and Africa has shown that the latter class of wounds are less fatal when

Mr. Rado is at the head of one of the largest coffee and tea importing houses in Europe and has his United States headquarters in New York. He is touring the United States on a pleasure trip, and left for the South yesterday evening. He became acquainted with Mr. Perrin through the other visitor, William Y. Barnet, of Chicago, general manager of the Banking and Mercantile World of that city. Mr. Barnet, who had business in Indianapolis yesterday, took the opportunity of introducing Mr. Rade to Mr. Perrin and he is acquainted.

SUSAN WASHINGTON'S PLIGHT.

An Old Colored Woman Ejected from a House.

Susan Washington, an old colored woman, who was ejected from the house in which she had lived on Mill street, near Fourteenth street, was arrested yesterday be made to send her to the poor farm. She was found by the police sitting in the center of a pile of her household goods which had been carried into the street. Friends had collected a few days ago a small sum, sufficient to pay her rent, but it was not paid. Yesterday she was intoxicated and left a bottle which had contained whisky in the patrol wagon. Her screams attracted attention all along the streets en route to police headquarters, and there two policemen had as much as they could do to carry her up the stairs.

IN HIS LETTER HE WILL FORMU-LATE A PROPOSITION.

Story-Question of Election Booths-Political Notes.

Three replies were received yesterday by Edward Insley in response to the circular note addressed by him to the four candidates for the Republican nomination for joint senator. Mr. Reagan, the fourth candidate, had an interview with Mr. Insley,

The responses from Joseph A. Minturn, Larz A. Whitcomb and Linton A. Cox are given below. Each expresses a willingness to agree upon a plan which will harmonize conflicting interests. There is also a distinct apprehension of the fact that the agreement, if one is made, must be in accordance with the idea of Mr. Elliott and the members of the Republican election

"There is no purpose to antagonize the committee nor Mr. Elliott," said Mr. Insley, last night. "In fact, the intention is decidedly opposite. LINTON A. COX'S LETTER.

Following are the letters to Mr. Insley: "Acknowledging receipt of your favor of the 14th inst. I have to say that I am in favor of the nomination of the Republican candidate for joint representative for Morgan and Marion counties by a direct vote f the Republican voters if Chairman Ellott, of Marion county, and Chairman Kennedy, of Morgan county, can agree upon some method by which it can be done Some weeks ago I stated this preference of mine to Chairman Elliott, at the same time stating to him that I did not wish any personal preference of mine to make unnecessary trouble or labor to either the committee of Marion county or the committee of Morgan county. Chairman Filliott has stated to me that he believes in the proposition of direct vote for nominations wherever the plan can be applied, and I understand that he has so stated to others upon many occasions. I have confidence that he is sincere in the matter and that the plan will be applied to the nomination for joint senator if it is found practicable by the chairman of Morgan ounty and the executive committees of Morgan and Marion counties.

"Having so expressed myself to Chairman Elliott I do not wish to seem to question his sincerity in the matter or to question his judgment or the judgment of the executive committee in Marion county or the judgment of the executive committee or of Chairman Kennedy, of Morgan county, by outlining to them or any of them a plan by which this nomination should be brough about. Any plan and time upon which the Republican chairmen and Republican executive committees may agree will be satisfactory to me. It is my hope, as stated, that the two chairmen and the two committees can arrange a plan under which the nomination may be brought about by direct vote. "LINTON A. COX."

I recognize the great efforts you have made in the interests of reform in primary elections, a subject in which I am deeply interested, and hence will say that, to promote the harmony in the party you suggest, I will agree to any plan based upon the following propositions, which are fair and im-

"At the primary on March 14 there shall be placed on the ticket the names of all the candidates for delegates to a joint senatorial convention, arranged in four sets, each under the name of the candidate for joint senator, and the voter shall signify his choice by stamping the name of the candidate, which stamp shall vote the names of all his delegates. Further, these names shall be arranged on the ticket aiternately, so that no candidate shall have any advantage. That is to say, one-fourth of all the ballots in the county (there being but four candidates so far announced) shall have the list arranged differentially from any other fourth, which will give each candidate an equal opportunity to come first on the ticket, and these alternate allots shall be found in every precinct. "For convenience and saving of expense each voter should vote a ticket having the names of all the intended delegates thereon, of which he votes his choice by stamping the name of the candidate at the head H. C. POLLOCK, A ROUGH RIDER, of the list he desires to vote.

"The above, in my opinion, concedes to Mr. Elliott, chairman, and my competitors all they desire in the way of nominating delegates to a joint convention of Marion ad Morgan counties, and concedes to me what I desire, viz.: that my candidacy may be passed upon by the people at a primary where the individual may vote his preference in his individual precinct, and not be swamped by a mass convention in wards where organized bodies of expert politicians can elect any and all delegates by mere force of organized numbers against the individual. The details of the dan can be arranged upon all agreeing to submit the plan to Mr. Elliott, chairman. "JOSEPH A. MINTURN."

Information from Washington last night was to the effect that Senator Beveridge denies the report sent out from Indianapolls that President Roosevelt recently, in the senator's presence, asked D. M. Parry, of Indianapolis, how he would like to be on the ticket with the President as vice presidential candidate in 1904. Senator Beveridge says he called upon the President with Mr. Parry to present him in order that he might extend an invitation to the President to be present at the annual convention of the Manufacturers' Association in May next and that no other subject whatever was discussed by the President and Mr. Parry on that occasion. It is announced that Senator Beveridge last night received a telegram from Mr. Parry stating that the Indianapolis story regarding his visit to the President was without foundation. John W. His plan is to hold the convention after Congress has adjourned, so that the Dem-

Says They Were Footpads.

C. F. Copeland, of 2025 Broadway, said the article in yesterday's Journal relative to his being followed to his home by two men gave him credit for very little judgment. The bicycle police thought the men who followed him with probable intent of robbing him were attracted by his act of turning back after seeing them without apparent reason. Mr. Copeland said yesterday the men stopped in front of his house and did not resent a few epithets applied to them. He insists they were footpads, waiting there to waylay one or more of the many traveling men who return home about that hour Friday nights.

TELLS AN INTERESTING STORY.

English Chemists, Father and Son, Who Held the Secret of an Acid-Other Hotel Visitors.

"There's an industry that used to be carried on in Arizona that few people know anything about," remarked H. C. Pollock at the Denison yesterday. Mr. Pollock formerly lived in Arizona and in fact was a member of Roosevelt's Rough Riders from that Territory. He really recruited Troop B, of the Rough Riders, and served with the regiment through the Cuban campaign. He to Indianapolis in 1848. He was married the gathering of what is called canagraroot, from which is extracted an acid that is very valuable in the work of tanning hides. "The root is usually found in the dry river beds," said Mr. Pollock. "Several years ago an English syndicate was formed to dig this stuff. So far as I know there are but two people in the world who know of one particular way of extracting acid from this root. These people are a father and son who are London chemists. I was employed as a sort of foreman by this English syndicate. We dug this root and shipped it to London where the acid was extracted. The syndicate was unable to get these chemists to come to America and it was finally decided it was impracticable to maintain a plant in England so far away from the product, so the industry was abandoned. Since then I have not heard of anyone else trying the scheme." At the time of the breaking out of the Spanish-American war Mr. Pollock was deputy revenue collector for the Territory of Arizona. He is a great admirer of Theodore Roosevelt and relates incidents of the popularity of the colonel among the men of his regiment. He says that one of the things that impressed him most favorably in connection with Roosevelt was an incident that took place at Montauk Point ocrats will have an opportunity of attack- | the day that Roosevelt told the men gooding in their convention the "mean" legis- bye at the close of the war. Chairman Goodrich has not yet announced who the Republican committee's legal adviser will be. Chairman O'Brien, of the Democratic committee, has appointed W. W. Spencer, of this city, to represent that committee. These legal advisers are appointed to consult with each other in regard to the questions that arise in counties as to when the terms of certain county officers expire. Chairman Goodrich will probably appoint an attorney to represent the committee some time this week. The chairman will announce his executive committee within a week or two. It is understood that Henry C. Starr, of Richmond, and Walter Schmitt, of Evansville, are to be members of the executive committee and that Warren Bigler, of Wabash, and S. W Cantwell, of Hartford City, may also be sejected. It is also understood that Newland T. De Pauw, Hugh H. Hanna and W. R. McKeen are likely to be invited to serve as members of the finance committee. The members of the advisory committee are selected by the chairmen of each district. The advisory committee consists of one member from each district.

The Greencastle Convention.

Men who attended the Republican convention at Greencastle yesterday were about the hotels last night. "There seemed to be a decided sentiment in favor of the renomination of E. S. Holliday for Fifth district congressman," said one of them last night. "The talk that I heard did not develop that there is any personal feeling against Mr. Barcus, but it simply indicated that there was a decided sentiment against 'turning down' Holliday. People seem to feel that he at least ought to have a show at a second term in Congress."

informing us that he and his staff will visit the exposition on that day and we trust that a great many of the people of Indiana will be here then to help us in making this event one of the most noteworthy of the exposition period. The railroads have made remarkably low rates for this occasion and I shall be greatly obliged if you will urge all good Indianians and-all Indianians are good, of course-to attend the exposition on Indiana day. The exposition at Charleston is the most artistic that has ever been held in the South. The buildings are magnificent, the grounds are beautiful, the exhibits are thoroughly representative of the industrial wealth of the South and the purpose of the exposition, which is the extension of our commercial interests with the West Indies and the development of closer relations between the States of our own country. The rates made from points in the Middle West to Charleston to be sold on one day only, and with the final limit of ten days from date of sale are as follows: Cairo, Ill., $16.60; Cincinnati, O., $16; Evansville, Ind., $15.70; Louisville, Ky., $15.20. I shall be greatly obliged if you will inform your readers that the rate to the exposition at Charleston for a ten days' trip for Indiana day is $15.70."

ONDUCTED on our plan assures extraordinary values, for the reason that reductions are bona fide. There is never a fictitous price placed on a piano in this store, therefore, when we say that the price of a certain piano has been reduced the two prices are there in plain figures. The difference between the higher and the lower prices represents a sacrifice of a part of our profit which, at the higher price, would not be unreasonable. When we cut forty dollars off the price of one piano and sixty-five dollars off the price of another it is plain that our profit cannot be much. We are offering the four remaining discontinued case designs of Richmond Pianos at these reduced prices. We had eleven of them; there are now four. We belive these will be snapped up to-morrow.
